These are my links for February 6th through February 7th:

* The Royal Gazette - Bermuda - "Realising his campaign vow to "shut down the tax havens" will be on US President Barack Obama's back burner for the foreseeable future, according to CNN political pundit Roland Martin. Mr. Martin, the guest speaker at the Bermuda International Business Association annual general meeting lunch at the Fairmont Hamilton Princess yesterday, also suggested that the phrase was simply designed to glean support in the campaign and would not necessarily translate into action, now Mr. Obama was in the White House."

Sounds like the man delivered what the audience wanted to hear

* Welcome to Jersey Finance Online - Statement from Geoff Cook in response to the BBC Panorama Programme "Tax me if you can" broadcast 2 February 2009 -

Oh dear

They don't like it

The do something about it

Stop facilitating tax evasion for a start
