

What I want from the budget

Having derided what KPMG wants from the Budget I guess it's only fair that I publish my own wish list:

- * A Green New Deal;
- * A General Anti-Avoidance Principle in UK tax law;
- * Minimum tax rates for those earning over £100,000, rising with income so that at £250,000 45% would equal 45% tax on all income, with no allowances given;
- * National insurance on all investment income over £5,000 pa excluding pensioners;
- * Capital gains taxed as income;
- * Aggressive action from the Foot Commission on tax havens including sanctions on all UK dependent states that do not do full information exchange under the EU Savings Tax Directive;
- * A requirement that the accounts of all companies that are members of multinational groups that are filed with tax returns include those group accounts stated on a country by country basis, including intra-group transactions;
- * End of the domicile rule — funds to child poverty.
- * Ending of the tax office closure programme and increased vigilance in tax collection.

I'm sure I could refine it a bit. That will do for starters. No time to do links.

I'm not holding my breath.
