

Capital flight in South Africa

Published: January 13, 2026, 9:14 am

Staggering — capital flight out of South Africa could be 20% of GDP. That's massive organised theft.

And the big increase is transfer mispricing.

That is corporate theft.

Don't tell me that corporations don't help create poverty in these places. They do so deliberately.

This data from economists at the University of Witwatersrand, Johannesburg.