I liked this comment on comments on a blog I read this evening:

- 1. Obscenity will get your comment deleted; I suspect that a fair number of commenters don't even realize they're doing it, because that's the way many of us #$$%^! talk these days. But think about it, and don't waste your time or mine.*
- 2. Stay on the topic of the post.*
- 3. New rule, if you haven't seen it: Nazi/Hitler references are out unless clearly relevant.*
- 4. Get your insults right. There is, I believe, a fair bit of evidence against the hypothesis that I'm stupid. What you mean to say is that I'm evil.*

Why did I find that amusing? Because Paul Krugman, Nobel laureate, seems to share some of the problems I have.

It's good to be in such company.
