

This mornings email from the FT damning George

Published: January 14, 2026, 12:15 am

I loved the email summary of the budget from the FT this morning. It said:

In spite of rising inflation, lower short-term growth and higher medium-term borrowing, Mr Osborne said his plan to cut the deficit was on track

So that's what the FT thinks - Osborne has blind faith in the face of the evidence of his failure.

I suspect there are many who share that view this morning.