

I despair

Published: January 13, 2026, 1:55 am

I despair that people hate their fellow people so much.

I despair that people are so consumed by greed.

I despair that people are so willing to renege on their promises.

I despair that people suffer so little empathy.

I despair that people cling so strongly to the need for military might.

I despair of the America's Republicans.

God save America.

It certainly looks like they're not trying to.