

Foreign aid isn't working: take action today

Published: January 14, 2026, 6:32 pm

We've known this for a long time. For every aid dollar that flows south, ten dollars flows northwards through illicit channels. The odds are stacked against sustainable development.

G20 leaders meet this autumn to discuss the world economy. The prospects don't look encouraging, but this is exactly the moment when they should take action against the underlying problems, which means taking action against tax havens.

Our job is to encourage them to take the necessary steps. Watch this video, circulate the link to your friends and colleagues, and encourage them to take action here.
