

Is it the BBC's job to demand tax cuts?

Published: January 13, 2026, 8:57 am

Sarah Montague was asking on the BBC this morning why George Osborne hadn't cut corporate tax rates more.

On Saturday on PM and interviewer (sorry, can't remember who) was demanding that the Tories cut the 50p tax rate.

Why is the BBC doing this?

Has it joined the Taxpayers' Alliance? Or just forgotten its duty of impartiality?