Mitt Romney's tax affairs are making headlines. And rightly so.

For the second presidential election in a row tax havens are an issue - and Cayman is in particular. Obama made it so last time.

I wonder whether that would have happened but for the small group of dedicated tax haven campaigners around the world. There was no such campaign pre 2003. Things have changed. No enough. But a lot none the less.

And this will continue to hit Romney hard - and feed the Occupy movement.
