

An apology: normal service will resume!

A combination of having no internet connection in my office today (thank BT), doing a recording session with the BBC (for File on 4, Radio 4, 8pm, 13 March) and a quick round trip to London for a Green New Deal meeting meant today has seen one of my lowest weekday blog outputs for, well, ages.

BT permitting I may be back to normal tomorrow. Hope so. Having written 8,000 blogs in 5 or so years it always feels weird not to be in full flow.
