Amusing discussion with Charlie from Pimlico Plumbers on Daily Politics show on BBC2.

His claim was because he pays more tax there's less money in the business. That can only be because he is paying himself more gross pay to maintain his net pay despite the tax increase.

I am sure none of his staff are on that deal when tax changes take place. But what we do now know is that this campaign is all about maintaining the take home pay of the very well off, and nothing else, as I predicted.

Oh, and note: if they are paying themselves more the tax take will be even higher!
