A new film by Unite the union, shows how workers' wages are failing to stretch to the end of the month with the money running out after just 21 days before they have to start borrowing to get by until the next pay day. Unite says, stand up for a better future. Join the march for a future that works 20 October 2012.

For reasons I can't work out I can't embed the video - but it's available here.
