

Slowing down on yesterday

After four blogs, three television appearances, two radio interviews, a Guardian article and nine press interviews yesterday I would like to slow down today.

But I'll still be with Class this morning and the PCS lobby of MPs at lunchtime.

And a Green New Deal meeting this evening.

I never realised when I became a near enough full time campaigner it really meant full time. Home at midnight tonight.

And it's HMRC tax gap numbers tomorrow....that will be interesting.

So the question has to be, is it worthwhile. When it creates this reaction, yes. The mood is changing.
