

This morning's Today programme

Published: January 16, 2026, 7:27 am

I was on the Today programme this morning.

You can listen again here at 2.38:30.

I made several arguments. The first is that the politics around tax have changed.

The second is that tax havens are about secrecy and their opacity is now the focus of attention.

Finally, current corporation tax rules don't work and we need unitary taxation.