The Tax Justice Network and Tipping Point Film Fund are jointly organising a day of activity in London on Saturday 8th June designed to engage all those - public and campaigners alike - who would like to know more about why tax matters to society and, therefore, the need to intensify the spotlight on tax avoidance.

The day will include two film screenings each with panel discussions, a 'revelatory' walking tour of the City of London and a great list of contributors to the day's events including John Christensen, John Hilary, Nick Mathiason, Nick Dearden, Polly Courtney, Tom Pursey, Pablo Navarette.

Morning film/panel (We're Not Broke) and the lunchtime 'secrets of the city' walk are both free; Barbican afternoon film 'Spirit of 45' & discussion is ticketed.
