

The Overseas Territories really don't like being called...

Published: January 13, 2026, 12:38 am

This is from my Twitter time line:

It looks like the Overseas Territories and Bermuda and Anguilla in particular do not like being described as tax havens.

I have an easy response in that case: give up being tax havens in that case because indisputably they are right now. See the Financial Secrecy Index for more details.