

Will George win the battle of the opinion polls?

Yes, I know it's the Guardian, but this is interesting

This was an autumn statement for the south east.

Most will realise that George is blowing bubbles

And that if unemployment falls in 2015 then interest rates will rise - tipping millions of households into crisis

Few will be fooled, I think, that this policy is sustainable, because it isn't.

I hope the poll fairly accurately reflects that.
