

Davos: like a very expensive chauffeur-driven limousine...

Published: January 12, 2026, 10:18 pm

I loved an article by my Green New Deal colleague Andrew Simms on Davos, written on the Channel 4 News website in which he said:

Right now Davos looks like a very expensive chauffeur-driven limousine, speeding toward a cliff, full of hand-wringing, well-heeled individuals who refuse to change course.

And:

They are happy talking about cleaning slime from the muddied economic model, but not about changing the paradigm.

Go and read the rest here.