I have belatedly noticed that Global CEO magazine has concluded its survey of top CSR directors and has reported:

Our CSR poll has ended and we have a winner.

Our winner is Paul Monaghan, who wrote Lobbying for Good (with Philip Monaghan). He is also the director of the management consultancy Up the Ethics, and an adviser to Co-op Energy and Fair Tax Mark. His ideas are having a hugely positive influence, which is why he was selected as number one. The whole Global CEO team would like to congratulate him on his efforts.

It's great to have the country's top CSR director as a key member of the Fair Tax Mark team. And to be honest, Paul is an inspiration to work with. Which may be why the number of companies in the FTM pipeline is growing steadily.
