I am speaking at an event called Left Platform on Saturday at University of London Union, Malet Street, WC1. The brief is as follows:

I have been asked to introduce discussion on tax justice and the tax gap and will be speaking soon after 11, and unfortunately have to leave soon after 12.

But it looks like an interesting day is forecast.
