

Funding the Future

We need more variations on this theme

I am not a member of a political party.

I will not be endorsing any party in the run up to the election.

I want them all to promote tax justice.

I want them all to oppose austerity.

I want them all to promote equality.

I want them all to invest now in our futures.

But it is fair to say some deliver the message more clearly than others right now:

It would be good to see many variations on that theme.
