Following my recent interventions on tax in Jersey the Jersey Evening Post ran a poll on whether the island should have introduced its zero / ten tax regime, which I opposed from 2005 onwards.

Now of course such polls do not prove anything per se as they are no scientific but the outcome was still of interest. This was the question:

And this was outcome:

I'd call that pretty a pretty emphatic endorsement for my position.

No doubt the Jersey authorities would not.
