

Living in heads in the sand time

Published: January 13, 2026, 5:31 am

The FT seems to have realised that a recession is on its way. The following all come from this morning's paper:

You can find more.

The point is the message is clear and yet do not expect a hint of it in the discussion of the UK economy this week. That we're living in heads in the sand time is deeply worrying.