

Labour should ride its luck

Published: January 15, 2026, 9:09 pm

I spoke at an event organised by my department at City University last night on 'Labour's View of the World'. Unsurprisingly I concentrated on the economic aspects of this. These were my speaking notes. The themes will recur on the blog today and later:

As usual, click on the image and a new tab will open with a bigger version. If that is not big enough click on that image again.