Blogging may be light over the next few days. After a frantic period I am taking a few days off, during which time we will also be moving.

After a decade in Norfolk we are moving back to Ely, where we lived for a number of years before heading north. Socially and logistically (and certainly for my work) we see benefits from a move.

The new address will be listed in due course on the contact page (I think it appropriate to get there first) although the reality is that email and phone will always get me best and all those details will remain the same.
