

I took the weekend off bar a literary festival, so...

Published: January 15, 2026, 7:11 am

I celebrated my relaxing weekend by starting the chapter plan of a new book on tax havens on Friday afternoon.

And sent it to my agent last night.

I gather there is already some interest.

I'm hoping for a November publication date.

It looks as though my gardening time may be used up for a bit. But not entirely, I hope.