

Does any prime minister have the right to invoke Article 50?

Published: January 15, 2026, 7:12 am

Time is short this morning so I must blog in haste.

In that case might I simply draw attention to Jolyon Maugham's blog on whether any prime minister has the legal right to invoke Article 50 using the Royal prerogative?

The question he raises is constitutionally important in the rapidly deepening crisis that we face.