As the Irish Times has reported this morning:

On this week's [Irish Times] business podcast, UK based tax reform advocate Professor Richard Murphy and our legal affairs correspondent Colm Keena join Ciarán Hancock to talk about the world of offshore tax avoidance revealed in the Paradise Papers.

Colm looks at the details of the Irish cases found among the cache of leaked documents, while Richard explains the unusual way in which the Isle of Man has managed to fund itself while offering a zero per cent corporate tax rate.
