

On tour

The next few weeks will see me on tour, albeit mainly of universities. There may be moments when having a tour T shirt might help tell me where I am. Sometimes it will be in the UK: but I will not be improving my carbon footprint, I am afraid.

The tour starts today.

If blogging is sporadic and moderation slow, I apologise. The day job has to definitely take precedence on occasion. This is one such time. I will do my best but trust you will understand.
