

Out of steam

This is fair warning: I have run out of steam and blogging is going to have low priority over the next few days.

I have new work on the tax gap to finish in draft and then a few days off with my sons to share. If there are fewer blogs and slow moderation on those that I post, please accept my apologies in advance. Sometimes batteries need recharging. I expect to be back in full action in the middle of next week.
