I have a fairly busy day ahead of me. There is not more time for blogging for a bit.

However, might I commend two articles on Progressive Pulse, which I am also the publisher of? The first is a typically frank appraisal of Brexit by Sean Danaher, whose opinions I have long appreciated on this and other issues.

The second is a consideration of MMT and the job guarantee by Ivan Horrocks, which I also appreciated.

Both are well worth reading.

And might I commend regular commentators here to consider writing for Progressive Pulse? You know who you are.
