I was pleased to see this tweet by Juan Pablo Guererro of the Global Initiative for Financial Transparency, who joined us at City, University of London yesterday for a seminar on tax spillovers yesterday, which is research work being undertaken by Prof Andrew Baker of Sheffield University and me.

My own talk was entitled 'Tax spillovers: the future of tax reform', which I happen to think it is

There will be quite a lot more on this work coming out soon.

And the outcome of the meeting makes the prospects for progress look good.
