

Spot the woman

Published: January 21, 2026, 1:40 am

The Electoral Reform Society has done a Wordle (as think they are called) of the given names of those standing for election on 12 December:

One-third of candidates are female. The top 21 are male.

So not only are women hard to spot, it may well be that the males fit a particular norm and the women don't.

And yes, I know I seem to have one of the more popular male names.