

Who are accounts actually for?

Published: January 13, 2026, 2:20 pm

I have a column under the above title on AccountingWEB this morning.

When all is said and done, answering such questions matters, because this is about how we account for much of what our economy does. This then is a real issue, needing an answer, and the answer we give changes how we understand the private sector.

Registration is free. The article is here.