

Laying bare Johnson's priorities

Published: January 14, 2026, 10:31 am

---

Sometimes what is in front of your nose tells you all you need to know about an issue. This is true this morning in an email from the Financial Times, which has this juxtaposition within it:

What the Tories want is the greatest opportunity for the City of London. Everyone else can bear the cost of the disruption that their policies will bring.

And that is Tory policy laid bare: finance rules, and everyone else can go to hell in a hand cart.