

Facing the uncertain future for small business

Published: January 13, 2026, 2:36 pm

I have an article out on AccountingWEB this morning on what small businesses should be thinking about once they have addressed their immediate cash flow and staffing problems.

Those that have a hope of surviving need to start planning their recovery now - because the risks that will arise then will be at least as big as the ones that are being faced now.

The article is here.