

A revamp

As some will have noted, maybe when making comments, the blog got a revamp overnight and now has the latest version of Wordpress installed.

I hope this makes making comments a little easier.

I should add that I still recommend writing longer comments offline just in case: that way they do not get lost if anything goes wrong.

From my point of view when writing it this will take some time to get used to as I am now using the new Wordpress editor and nothing is where it used to be. If errors happen, I apologise.
