

Modern monetary theory resources

<https://www.taxresearch.org.uk/Blog/2020/04/08/modern-monetary-theory-resources/>

Published: January 12, 2026, 8:12 pm

---

There was an appeal for a list of MMT resources on this blog and on Twitter yesterday, to which I did not have time to respond. George Gordon did though and offered these, many of which I know. As he put it:

I like the following, in some sort of order (the first link is really, really good) —

<https://ponderwall.com/index.php/2019/06/29/neoliberalism-fairytale-money-bank/>
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vryflluFru4>
<https://theadmp.com/forums/guide-question-going-pay/>
<https://theadmp.com/threads/1041042774278189056.html> (very short)
<https://gimms.org.uk/2019/02/10/uk-government-spending-taxation-bank-lending/>
(longer but very clear)
<http://moslereconomics.com/mandatory-readings/an-interview-with-the-chairman/>

Thomas Edison and Henry Ford understood in 1921 —

<http://prosperityuk.com/2000/09/thomas-edison-on-government-created-debt-free-money/>

And who better to end with than James K Galbraith —

<https://prospect.org/features/economists-got-wrong/>