It was confirmed to me yesterday that I have been appointed as a visiting professor at the University of Sheffield's Management School working primarily on accounting related issues and the development of sustainable cost accounting.

I already have an ESRC funded research project in progress with Prof Adam Leaver at Sheffield on financial engineering, its impact on financial reporting and consequent productivity-related issues. I am also working on new project development involving both Sheffield and Copenhagen Business School.

The appointment will last for three years.

I will be leaving my post as Professor of Practice in International Political Economy at City, University of London this summer. This is currently part-time.

I continue to be a visiting professor at Anglia Ruskin University Global Sustainability Institute.
