

Thoughts on money

Published: January 16, 2026, 6:16 am

I admit to feeling tired this morning. But the dog woke me wanting to go out quite early, and so I have been up and have been reading, as is my normal morning routine. A thought for a blog occurred to me, and normally I would have started writing. But I didn't need to write an early morning essay today, so I turned the microphone on my iPad on instead, and offer this as an alternative:
