

Tourism may be the last thing the UK needs right now

Published: January 13, 2026, 4:51 am

I offer this tweet with every caveat under the sun, starting with the fact that I do not know that the data is sourced correctly:

https://twitter.com/deckzero_com/status/1265322276364398592

But if that map is credible - and I can see intuitive reasons to think why it is, then tourism is the last thing the UK needs right now, for the sake of those in many of the tourist areas, as well as to protect those going to them.

Unless you want a holiday in Cleethorpes the coats is not looking good right now.