

A mythbuster page on the Tax Research wiki

Published: January 15, 2026, 4:58 pm

I have launched a Mythbuster page on the Tax Research wiki. There aren't that many as yet - because these take time to write. But I hope that over time this page will become a real resource.

You will also find a Tax After Coronavirus \(TACs\) page on the wiki.

And there is a developing resource on money.

In due course I am hoping to also publish a series on basic explanations of key issues to ensure that these are readily available. The glossaries already published are part of that, but specific issues, like how money is created, really do need their own pages in due course, and will get them. Suggestions are welcome for this series.