

When the science is ignored

Published: January 13, 2026, 1:03 am

This tweet by a University College, London professor highlighting her own Newsnight debut last night confirms that the reopening of the economy is not about following the science:

<https://twitter.com/chrischirp/status/1275701445422088192?s=20>

So what is the real plan?

Hed immunity of course. And saying it's all our fault when a second wave happens because we did not follow 1 meter plus, whatever that means.

Or gross government irresponsibility, in other words.