

There is a word that describes a government that publis...

Published: January 13, 2026, 4:15 am

---

This tweet was published at 11.38 pm last night:

<https://twitter.com/HansardSociety/status/1305274663933751299>

The law it referred to came into effect 22 minutes later.

There is a name for the sort of government that publishes a law with 22 minutes notice.

Failed, is, of course, one of them.

But another word beginning with F is better.

And there's no k in it, just for the record.