I wrote about Stephen King's article on MMT in the FT this morning.

Soon after posting it I sent a link to FT Alphaville. And this is the consequence:

As they note, having highlighting King's article:

To absolutely no-one's surprise, the great and the good of MMT have kicked off about the article on Twitter. Fellow financial blogger and tax injustice crusader Richard Murphy has been the first to respond in blog form, so here's part of his take:

After which big chunks of my blog post appear.

And as they conclude:

FT Alphaville has to say that we find Murphy's arguments far more convincing.

But we'll leave you to bicker about that in the comments.

Feel free!
