

Funding the Future

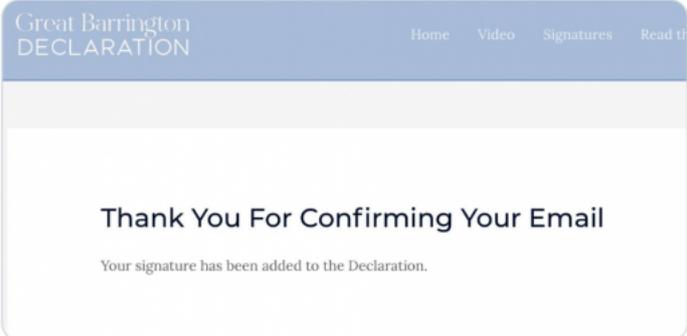

The Great Barrington Declaration isn't too worried about...

Published: January 13, 2026, 9:05 am

I loved this:

Dr Nafeez Ahmed @NafeezAhmed

The Great Barrington Declaration claiming to represent over 5,000 medical & public health scientists to promote herd immunity from #COVID19 is a gigantic fraud. Here's how I know. To test it out, I signed it pretending to be such a scientist with a Harvard degree. Easy. /1

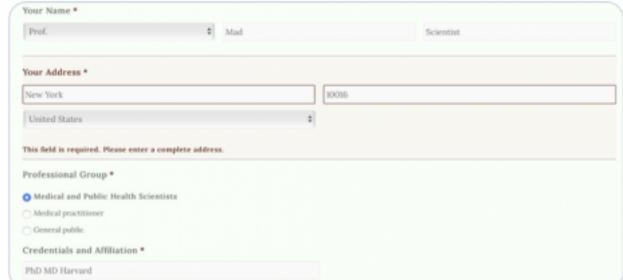

12:35 PM · Oct 9, 2020 · Twitter Web App

328 Retweets 54 Quote Tweets 344 Likes

Dr Nafeez Ahmed @NafeezAhmed · 2h
Replying to @NafeezAhmed

There are no meaningful standards, checks or controls for new 'scientists' signing Declaration in addition to original signatories. I used the name 'Mad Scientist', masqueraded as Professor, faked my Harvard PhD, and used a Zipcode from New York University School of Medicine. /2

4 30 75

Dr Nafeez Ahmed @NafeezAhmed · 2h

Good advice.

And just for the record, Dr Barnard Castle, a consultant eye doctor, as well as Dr Harold Shipman, have also signed.

I think the numbers who have really signed are very much smaller than claimed.

But the 'fake news' (justifiably named in this case) will go on, no doubt.

PS Now let me add these two:

