

Challenging the Scottish Growth Commission

Published: January 13, 2026, 2:27 am

I am taking part in an event on 25 February where a number of speakers, and those attending in open discussion, will be challenging the work of the Scottish Growth Commission. We will be seeking to put forward positive alternatives to its deeply neoliberal view of Scotland after independence. I recorded this video on why I am taking part:

<https://youtu.be/A477OHCrORs>

More details on the event and registration details are available here.