There is a consultation going on right now on whether the requirements for placing accounts on public record at Companies House should change. The suggestion is that the full accounts of all companies, whatever their size, should go on the public record at Companies House. I explain why this is a really good idea in this video.

If you want to submit a comment to Companies House in support of this the links are in this blog or the relevant letter that you might want to adapt, with the email address to submit it to, is available here.

But please do it soon as the consultation ends tomorrow.
