

Funding the Future

Thursday evening

Published: January 13, 2026, 11:53 am

I have already plugged this a bit but I will do so again:

The poster is for a lecture by Professor Richard Murphy. It features a dark blue background. At the top left is the 'KEELE WORLD AFFAIRS' logo, which includes a globe and the text 'KEELE WORLD AFFAIRS' and 'Europe's Leading Series of Lecture Meetings on International Politics and Global Issues'. To the right of the logo is a blue button that says 'Non - Member? Sign up here'. The main title of the lecture is '“Who Pays for Covid-19? In Search of Tax Justice”' in white text. Below the title is the speaker's name, 'Professor Richard Murphy', and the date, '25th February 2021'. A green tagline below the date reads 'Critic of globalisation and campaigner for equitable tax systems'. On the right side of the poster is a portrait of Professor Richard Murphy, a man with white hair and glasses. Below the portrait and title, there is a block of text providing background information on Professor Murphy, including his roles at Sheffield Hallam University and the Tax Justice Network, and his previous work as a chartered accountant and corporate director. It also mentions his books, 'Tax Havens: How Globalization Really Works', 'The Courageous State', and 'The Joy of Tax'. At the bottom of the poster are social media icons for Twitter, Facebook, and Email.

KEELE WORLD AFFAIRS
Europe's Leading Series of Lecture Meetings
on International Politics and Global Issues

Non - Member?
Sign up here

“Who Pays for Covid-19?
In Search of Tax Justice”

Professor Richard Murphy

25th February 2021

Critic of globalisation and campaigner for equitable tax systems

Richard Murphy is a Visiting Professor at Sheffield Hallam University Global Sustainability Institute following five years as Professor of Practice in International Political Economy at City University of London. Richard is a UK chartered accountant and political economist whose main areas of research relate to taxation and its impact on local, national and international economies and the relationships within and between them.

He was a practising chartered accountant and corporate director for more than 20 years before becoming one of the co-founders of the Tax Justice Network. He combines his current role with directorships of Tax Research UK and the Corporate Accountability Network, and writes a daily blog on these issues.

Richard's work has been widely used by politicians and regulators. He was the creator of the country-by-country reporting concept that became one of the OECD's recommended bases for reporting the taxable income of multinational corporations in 2014 in an attempt to beat profit shifting and tax avoidance by those companies.

Richard has made regular news appearances on BBC1, BBC News Channel, Newsnight, Channel 4 and ITV.

His books include Tax Havens: How Globalization Really Works, The Courageous State, and The Joy of Tax.

B
BBC Speaker's
Book of Richard P.

Twitter Facebook Email

Tickets are available by signing up as a non-member here.