

Good Friday afternoon

Published: January 15, 2026, 5:29 am

It was blowing straight from the North Pole this afternoon, but the blossom was out:

And it was beautiful, even with the grey skies:

That's the Rive Cam, just south of Ely.

We don't have many hills around here, but we do big skies.

And I saw my first swallows and house martins of the year.